Fate of Six Americans Up to Cuban Court

HAVANA (AP) — Six Americans accused of conspiring against Fidel Castro may learn their fate today from a military tribunal that could deport them, keep them in prison or send them to their deaths.

There was speculation the court might emulate Soviet Premier Khrushchev's freeing of two American fliers last week as a gesture toward the new Kennedy administration.

In a 2½ hour trial Saturday the Americans claimed they had come to Havana in a stolen boat early in January, after the United States broke diplomatic relations with Cuba, to help defend Castro's revolution.

The prosecutor scoffed at the Americans' explanation and charged they were bringing arms to rebel guerrillas fighting Castro. He asked for death by firing squad.

Although Castro has repeatedly called for the sternest treatment of those trying to overthrow him, defense attorney Luis Raul Fleitas cited the prime minister's less angry attitude toward the new U.S. administration and Premier Khrushchev's release of the two American reconnaissance fliers. Fleitas said these were samples of "good faith" the court should follow.

The six Americans are George R. Beck, 24, of Norton, Mass.; Tommy L. Baker, 28, of Dothan, Ala.; Donald Joe Green, 28, of Gastonia, N.C.; James E. Bean, 34, of Cedar Falls, N.C.; Alfred Eugene Gibson, 32, of Mount Gilcard, N.C.; and Leonard Louis Schmidt, 21, of Chicago.

Priest Shot in Ireland Roadblock

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A Roman Catholic priest was shot in the leg today by police manning a roadblock set up to capture members of the underground Irish Republican Army.

The roadblock was part of an intensive search along the border between Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic for the killers of Ulster constable Norman Anderson, 28. Anderson was shot dead Friday while returning from a visit to his 17-year-old girl friend south of the border.

Rules Change Gets Backing of President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy was reported today to feel that defeat in Tuesday's showdown vote on a plan to enlarge the House Rules Committee would seriously impair his administration's prestige abroad.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., is seeking to enlarge the committee—which decides what bills come before the House—from 12 to 15 members.

Addition of new members would be designed to break the power of four conservative Republicans and two Southern Democrats on the committee who have consistently blocked House votes on many special welfare bills over the years.

Officials in a position to know said Kennedy believes that an administration defeat on the issue would hamper him, for example, in his dealing with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Kennedy is said to feel that such a prestige blow would cause Khrushchev to downgrade the influence of the new administration. Apart from any international repercussions, Kennedy has said publicly that a defeat most likely would have the effect of bottling up key measures in his domestic legislative program.

Kennedy was reported today to be refraining from doing any personal missionary work among House members. But it is understood that he has talked to White House aides and other administration officials.

Court Rules in Favor of Hi-way Dept.

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court ruled today that the State Highway Commission can not be forced to file a condemnation suit for the benefit of landowners who want a court judgment for alleged damages to their property.

The Court's unanimous opinion said that if the commission could be forced to file such a suit, it would actually place the state in the position of being sued. Suits against the state are prohibited by the constitution.

A. M. Bryant and other owners of the Trout Motel at Benton contended their inability to sue the commission deprived them of a constitutional right to redress for damages.

Upholding Pulaski Chancellor Guy Williams, the Supreme Court said that motel owners willingly surrendered portions of their property to the Highway Department and then tried to have a suit filed so their could be a court determination of damages.

The court said the proper route would be a claim filed with the state Claims Commission.

The Supreme Court upheld a Jackson Circuit Court decision that the Little Rock Road Machinery Co., is not entitled to recover damages from Jackson County because of a constitutional prohibition against a county spending more funds than it collects, the Supreme Court said.

In an Arkansas County case, the Court affirmed a $3,722 judgment against Aljah W. and Mrs. Nina Wright in favor of Julius Tschner. The suit involved the sale of soy beans grown by Roelmer on Wright's land under a tenant arrangement.

The Court ordered a new trial in a Craighead County land case. Craighead Circuit Court held that J. C. Wilkerson and his wife had obtained title to some land by adverse possession and denied a suit by Harry Woodall and others trying to make Wilkerson remove a fence from the property.

The Supreme Court held that Wilkerson's claim to an adverse possession title was not valid because at the time it would have been effective, the true owner of the property was Woodall's late wife, who was of unsound mind.

Adverse possession laws cannot be used against the property of mentally ill persons, the court said.

Wants Strength to Deal With Any Emergency

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, solemnly calling this a time of national emergency with the Communist tide running dangerously against America, today announced he has ordered swift bolstering of U. S. military defenses.

In his first State of the Union message, the President said the orders provide for an immediate speed-up in Polaris submarine construction and in development and production of missiles, and for prompt increase in air-lift capacity to deal with "any problem at any spot on the globe at any moment's notice."

But in his address to Congress and the country, Kennedy also pledged his administration to exploration of "all possible areas of cooperation with the Soviet Union and other nations" to invoke the wonders of nuclear and space science instead of the terrors.

He specifically invited the Soviet Union to join with the United States now in a science space program "which some day may unlock the deepest secrets of the universe."

Kennedy, speaking before a joint session of the House and Senate and to a nationwide television and radio audience, said that despite the current urgent need for greater military might until tensions ease, arms control and disarmament will be "a central goal of our national policy."

He called for new efforts to end the arms race.

Meanwhile, he said: "The tide is unfavorable. Life in 1961 will not be easy. There will be further setbacks before the tide is turned. But turn it we must. The hopes of all mankind rest upon us."

The youthful President dealt mostly with the world situation, which he painted in somber tones.

There also was a note of gracefulness in what he had to say about the home front.

"In short," he declared, "the American economy is in trouble."

He said that for the last seven months business has been in the throes of recession. He said further that there have been "three and half years of slack, seven years of diminished economic growth, and nine years of falling farm income."

Kennedy sketched in general terms a program for dealing with this matter, saying his administration "does not intend to stand helplessly by." He promised to defeat the program in special messages to Congress during the next two weeks. "The remedies he outlined broadly are largely those he advocated during the presidential campaign."

The President said that barring Continued on Page Three

Soft Drink Tax to Be Key Issue

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A controversial soft drink tax to finance a proposed $52 million construction bond issue will get further consideration from the Arkansas Legislature this week.

A public hearing on the bill is planned Tuesday night by the House Revenue and Taxation Committee.

In the meantime, opponents of the tax have introduced a bill which would retire the proposed issue with general revenue funds.
The alternate proposal was offered by Garland Rep. Ray S. Smith Jr.

Pushing the soft drink tax proposal are presidents of the University of Arkansas and the seven state-supported colleges. The schools, along with the State Hospital and the Arkansas Children's Colony, would benefit from the bond issue.

A measure likely to be introduced this week would give each of the state's 75 counties $20,000 annually to match federal funds for farm-to-market road projects.

The proposal is sponsored by the Arkansas County Judges Association, which says only about 16 counties have had enough funds in recent years to take advantage of the program, under which the federal government provides half the money.

The bill would set aside $1.5 million in state highway Department funds for the counties share of the cost.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus is expected to offer a plan for reapportioning the state House of Representatives shortly.

The state constitution requires a reassignment of House seats on the basis of population by Feb. 1 following each federal census.

Each county has at least one representative, with 25 additional seats split among heavily populated areas.

The population shift brought a battle in both chambers last week over bills to guarantee that no county would lose state turnback funds solely because of a population loss. And the dispute may continue in this week's sessions.

House approval was given to a bill to base general revenue turnbacks on the 1950 census rather than on the 1960 count. The Senate passed a bill providing that no county would receive less highway turnback than it got in 1959-60.

The house was in a tax-cutting mood last week. It stamped approval on a bill to change the rate schedule for state income tax and on a measure to allow taxpayers to deduct one-third of their federal income tax when computing state income tax returns.

Also passed by the lower chamber were bills to exempt from the state sales tax all seed, fertilizer, herbicides and insecticides used for agricultural purposes.

The Senate approved a bill to grant sales tax exemptions for many construction and industrial items now exempted from the state use tax. The use tax is in effect a sales tax on items purchased outside the state.

A bill introduced by Perry Rep.
Paul Van Dalsen — on the other hand — would do away with most exemptions in the use tax.

Americans Evacuated in Africa

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The United Nations announced today 164 American missionaries and their families were evacuated over the weekend from pro-Lumumba Oriental Province.

A U. N. spokesman also confirmed reports of an armed clash between rebel soldiers and forces loyal to President Joseph Kasav-ubu's government at Basoko, a town on the Congo River within 100 miles of Stanleyville, the rebel capital.

Unconfirmed Congolese reports said an attacking force of Maj.
Gen. Joseph Mobutu's army thrust deeply into rebel territory by river boat after defeating rebel forces at the border town of Bumba last week. Fragmentary accounts of heavy casualties have reached the capital.

The American missionaries, believed to be from the interdenomwere picked up by roving patrols and taken to the town of Mahaghi, near the Uganda border.

They were escorted by Ethiopian U. N. forces into Uganda by

Mothers in New Orleans Are Defiant

By BEN THOMAS

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Neighborhood mothers defiantly vowed today they would never send their children back to integrated Mc-Donough No. 19 elementary school despite a slight crack in a two-month white boycott.

Gregory Thompson, 9, last week became the first white boy to attend McDonough since Nov. 17.
Three days after the school was desegregated under federal court directives.

John N. Thompson, 33, father of six, said he would also take his son Michael, 8, to McDonough if the boy's health permits. Michael remained home from school last week due to an asthma attack.

The two boys had been attending segregated schools in neighborhood St. Bernard Parish where most of the white children from McDonough and Frantz—the city's other desegregated school—were enrolled after the first strife-torn week of integration.

Ethel Arieux, 33, who withdrew her two children from McDonough, voiced a typical neighborhood reaction to Thompson's action.

"I don't think there'll be many white children back in McDonough.
I know I won't put mine back if I have to go to work to send them to private school."

"After all, that Thompson is an outsider. The boycott wasn't broken by one of us," said Mrs.
Arieux.

Thompson, a native of Sylacauga, Ala., came to New Orleans a year ago. The family moved into the McDonough school neighborhood after the integration order.

Searcy county was named for

Clerk Fired in N. Orleans Integration

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A drug store clerk continued his defiance of a white boycott at integrated McDonough No. 10 school today—sending his 9-year-old son to the school for a second day.

John N. Thompson, 33, father of six, sent his eldest child Gregory to McDonough in a car with two U. S. marshals.

Gregory went to the school for the first time Friday. It was the scene of angry mass picketing in November.

Today, a crowd of 35 angry neighborhood women and men surged across the street onto the neutral ground, yelling—"Nigger lover. Go home. Go home."

The marshals hustled the boy into the school building. Police ordered the women off the neutral ground—restricted to newsmen—and back across the street.

Nippy weather in the mid-30's held down the number of pickets.

versity of Arkansas mid-year graduating class.

Dr. Robert C. Anderson of Atlanta Saturday urged the 700

Probe Starts of Plant Fire That Killed 5

CHICAGO (AP) — Smoke and heat from the ruins of a six-story factory building slowed investigation today in the search for the origin of a disastrous fire which killed nine firemen.

The fire Saturday near Chicago's Loop was the most deadly, in terms of the loss of firefighters' lives, since 1943, said
Fire Commissioner Robert Quip.

He ordered his arson squad to investigate but said it might be several days before the smoldering rubble could be examined.

Memorial services were scheduled for Wednesday by Mayor Richard J. Daley. The victims included two battalion chiefs, two fire lieutenants and five firemen.

Fifteen other firemen were injured, five of whom are still hospitalized. Damage was set at $500,- 000.

Most of the victims lost their lives in a heroic effort to free firemen trapped by a collapsing wall. The rescue attempt was doomed by a second cave-in, the collapse of the roof of the adjacent two-story building.

The flames fed on huge quantities of butter and lard, inflammable substances used by a bakery supply firm housed in the six-story structure.

Prostitution Raids Made at Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP)—City Manager Gene Catlin has said organized prostitution is dead in this border city after a Saturday night raid on Texarkana's old and prosperous red-light district.

Twenty women and several men and teen-aged boys were arrested in a well-planned raid by city, county and state authorities, including Texas Rangers.

Organized prostitution flourish-here for decades. The city manager form of government replaced the mayor-council form in 1960 and newly-appointed Police Administrator Jack O'Brien led the raids on five Texas side houses Saturday night.

The women were booked on vagrancy charges and most of them were released on bond Sunday. O'Brien said the men were questioned and released but they probably will have to testify at the women's trials.

Hazen Fire Damage Is $100,000

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP) — Officials have said they are at a loss to explain the cause of a fire which leveled the three - story Hazel Hotel and caused damages unofficially estimated at between $100,000 and $150,000.

Fire Chief Harry Benish said the Saturday fire originated in a linen closet on the second floor, but added that the cause of the blaze may never be learned.

About 10 hotel guests fled the burning building shortly after the blaze was discovered. N. S. Barber, the hotel manager, said.

Miss Martha Rowe and John Martin Host Are Wed

On January 20, at 8 p. m. Miss Martha Rowe became the bride of John Martin Holt, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rowe. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Hershel Williams in the presence of relatives and friends.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street length dress of blue chantilly lace over taffeta with matching bolero. She carried a white bible topped with a nosegay of white carnations. Miss Susan Rowe, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Mr. Bill Arnette served the groom as best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held. Mrs. Neil Osborn served the wedding cake. Mrs. James Rowe, aunt of the bride, presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Richard Rowe, sister-in-law of the bride, was in charge of the brides' table.

After a short wedding trip the couple is at home in Hope where they both are employed.

Miss Janet McKenzie, Bride-Elect, Honored

Mrs. A. A. Hallett and Miss Linda Hallett of North Little Rock entertained for Miss Janet McKenzie of Memphis, Tenn., on January 21 in the Hallett home. It was an informal gathering of 12 former classmates.

Miss McKenzie, bride-elect of Buddy Nix of Memphis, Tenn., was presented a gift of silver in her chosen pattern by the hostesses. She pinned a corsage of pink carnations at the shoulder of her winter frock.

Pink carnations and white stocks decorated the home. Cookies, candy, and cold drinks were served for refreshments. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Dan Logan, Jr. of Gilliam, La., and Mrs. Bobbie Carney and Mrs. Joe Watkins, both of Texarkana.

Friday Music Club Meets in the Home of Mrs. George Frazier

Upon their arrival at the home of Mrs. George Frazier on January 27, members of the Friday Music Club were served cake and coffee by Mrs. Frazier and her co-hostess, Mrs. James McLarty, Jr. In the dining room yellow candles and roses decorated the serving table.

Dried arrangements were seen in the living room, where 15 members assembled. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. V. R. Herndon, Jr. She gave the group information concerning the national Music Club Convention to be held in Kansas City April 19-26.

Mrs. James McLarty, Jr. led a discussion of the Artists Series, a local project of the Friday Music Club, and information was given concerning the appearance of violinist Rubinoff this spring in Hope.

The Hymn of the Month, "Guide Me, O Thy Great Jehovah," was sung by the club after Mrs. James Shuffield had told the history of it. In a most interesting and enjoyable manner Mrs. Clarence Geist sketched the life of Claude Debussy.

Two piano solos illustrated the program. Mrs. B. W. Edwards played Debussy's "Golliwogg's Cakewalk," and the immortal "Clair de lune" was played by Mrs. George Frazier.

Soviets May Send Up Two Space Men

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union's next space spectacular could be to put two men into orbit, both in the same big capsule.

She would not only seize the prize of being first in human space flight—two men would trump even more the U.S. program to put one astronaut into orbit.

Four Soviet range ships patrolling the Pacific Ocean for the last week in the target area used for some of the Soviet missile firings indicate Moscow is on the verge of trying another space shot.

There is much speculation this might be a spacecraft carrying a man, rather than a collection of animals.

The possibility the Soviets might send up two men at once is reasonable speculation, a U.S. space official said informally.

The Soviet have the capability of a big booster rocket and large capsule, he said. And "solving the problems of re-entry and life support is no harder for two men than for one."

Many space and rocket experts think the race to put a man in space is almost sure to go to the Soviets. The Soviets long have had much more powerful booster rockets.

Sputnik II—launched back in November, 1957, and carrying the dog Laika—is interpreted as a clear signal the Soviets had already begun then to prepare for putting man into space, months before the United States had even launched her first small satellite.

The U.S. timetable doesn't foresee sending a man on a few trips around the earth until much later this year.

First must come the successful lifting of an animal, and then later an astronaut. On his initial flight, the first spaceman will be rocketed just a few hundred miles down the Atlantic Range, with recovery of the capsule at sea.

Nat'l Junior Auxiliary Official Here

Miss Martha Wise, executive secretary of the National Junior Auxiliaries, met with the Hope Chapter last week in the Community Room of the First National Bank.

Miss Wise gave a preview of the activities of the National Convention to be held May 3-5 in Biloxi, Miss. At this meeting the Hope chapter looks forward to acceptance into active membership, having served a year as a petitioning chapter and one as a provisional chapter.

Questions of particular interest to the local group were presented to Miss Wise for clarification and instruction. Throughout the day chapter officials and chairmen received individual training from the executive secretary.

With a challenge to the Hope chapter, Miss Wise concluded her talk: "American women count more than in the past. A dangerous illusion that freedom maintains itself by the mere fact of existence—it always has been and it always will be—is fast being replaced by an alertness on our part to realize its responsibility. Freedom of choice makes it doubly important that we choose well. Our organization is representative of a basic American principle that we are in danger of losing, that is—our rights, as individuals, to recognize the needs of our community and our freedom, as individuals to do something about it."

The Hope Chapter voted to act as sponsor for a girl attending Girl's State.

Wants Strength

development of urgent national defense needs or a worsening of the economy, Kennedy said he advances in all fields "will not of and by themselves unbalance the budget" he inherited from the Eisenhower regime. It calls for outlay of $80.9 billion and a surplus of $1.4 billion in the fiscal year starting July 1.

However, Kennedy made it plain he is not blindly wedded to the idea of a balanced budget. "We will do," he said, "what needs to be done. For our national household is cluttered with unfinished and neglected tasks."

In the monetary field regarding the balance of payments problem and the related flow of gold from the United States, Kennedy promised new steps to ease the situation.

But he also said: "This administration will not distort the value of the dollar in any fashion. That is a pledge. This administration intends, in short, to back up all our efforts abroad, and to make certain that, in the future as in the past, the dollar is 'as sound as a dollar.'"

Speaking of the Communist threat, Kennedy said that during his first 10 days in office he had been staggered to learn of "the harsh enormity of the (international) trials through which we must pass in the next four years."

As a result of a global review with key advisers, Kennedy said, he has instructed Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara "to reappraise our entire defense strategy" and make a preliminary report by the end of February.

Kennedy pictured the Communist menace as so serious that he has ordered an immediate strengthening of defenses on three fronts—Polaris submarines, missiles and the air-lift operation.

"I speak today," Kennedy said, "in an hour of national peril and national emergency. Before my term has ended, we shall have to test anew whether a nation governed and organized such as ours can endure."

"The outcome is by no means certain. The answers are by no means clear."

Kennedy said "we must re-examine and revise our whole arsenal of tools" for dealing with the threat to the free world—economic, political and diplomatic as well as military tools.

"We are moving into a period of uncertain risk in which both the military and diplomatic possibilities require a free world force so powerful as to make any aggression clearly futile," Kennedy said.

In the field of economic aid abroad, he called the problems "towering and unprecedented."

"The response must be towering and unprecedented as well, much as lend-lease in World War II and the Marshall plan of the post war years" were.

Kennedy singled out Latin-American countries for special aid, after saying that "Communist agents seeking to exploit that region's peaceful revolution of hope have established a base on Cuba, only 90 miles from our shores."

and travel to this country. To promote American exports at stable prices and with more liberal government guarantees and financing.

To curb tax and customs loopholes that encourage undue private spending abroad.

To share with allies all efforts for common defense and growth of underdeveloped lands.

NATIONAL SECURITY
Kennedy said that to strengthen the nation's military tools he had instructed the secretary of defense:

To reappraise our entire defense strategy.

To increase the capacity for transporting military forces by air.

To step up the Polaris submarine program through use of shipbuilding funds that are not now obligated.

To accelerate the missile program, concentrating at the moment on "improved organization and decision making."

In order to improve the nation's economic tools, Kennedy proposed:

Authority from Congress to establish a new foreign aid program with more flexibility for emergencies, commitment to long-term development, attention to education, emphasis on the recipient nations' effort and purposes, planning for national and regional development.

Senate approval of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development.

Appropriation of $500 million for Latin-American development.

A new interdepartmental task force under the State Department to coordinate policies related to the Americas.

Expansion of the food-for-peace program and immediate dispatch of a food-for-peace mission to Latin America.

Formation of a national peace corps.

Increased authority from Congress to use economic tools in eastern Europe.

Calling for increased support of the United Nations, Kennedy said the United States intends:

To enlarge and strengthen its own U. N. mission.

To help insure that the United Nations is properly financed and that the integrity of the office of secretary-general is maintained.

SCIENCE
Kennedy invited all nations, including the Soviet Union to collaborate:

In developing a weather forecasting program.

In a communications satellite program.

In preparation for probing Mars and Venus.

In a greater effort to make the fruits of science available to all.

tion officials about the matter, and they presumably are making his views known before Tuesday's House vote.

Many House liberals regard approval of Rayburn's plan as the key to getting approval of many of Kennedy's "new frontier" proposals such as: aid to education, aid to depressed areas, housing aid, medical care for the aged under Social Security, and raising the minimum wage.

Rayburn is deeply committed to ending the bottleneck power of the committee. His "no compromise" announcement Saturday indicates he thinks he now has the votes to win.

Rep. Howard W. Smith of Virginia is chairman of the Rules Committee and one of the Southern Democrats who teams with the Republicans to produce bill-blocking 6-6 tie votes in the committee.

Smith had offered to clear the five major Kennedy legislative proposals and also to give up the committee's power to prevent bills from going to House-Senate conferences in return for leaving his committee alone.

But Rayburn said, "Five bills is just a couple of weeks' work. We've got a two-year session coming up, and I've got to look at the long haul."

"I don't know what bills are going to come up, but I think the newly elected President has a right to get his legislative program considered in the House."

"And I think that with a Rules Committee as composed now it couldn't be done. A committee divided 6-6 can't do business."

The Rayburn plan would add two Democrats and one Republican to the committee. The two new Democrats presumably could be counted on to vote with the administration. Bills thus could be freed for action by an 8-7 vote, even if the new Republican joined the conservative coalition.

Ex-Wife Makes Trouble for His Second

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:
My husband and I have been married not quite a year and are expecting our first baby in a few months.

My problem is his ex-wife, now remarried. She calls his shop every day, trying to make trouble. This is driving him to drink, and me crazy. He stays out till all hours, then staggers home soused. Should I hang on or leave? I love him. —Heartbroken Wife

Dear Heartbroken Wife: Hang on! Don't give that troublemaker the satisfaction of wrecking three lives. Your husband needs you more than ever and your unborn baby needs you both!

Dear Helen:

Please tell me how I can keep the girl I love waiting for me till I finish college. I take care of my military obligations, and earn enough to support a wife?

The girl and I met in college two years ago. We aren't going steady but I see her every weekend. It was love at first sight for both of us. —Worried

Dear Worried: If you two sincerely love one another, don't wait, marry now.

My husband's grandson was married while in his senior year at college to a girl in her junior year. Despite family misgivings, they are making a brilliant go of it. He graduated with honors and is taking a course in business administration pending his call to the Service. She will graduate this coming June and already has a fine job lined up to keep her busy while he is doing his tour of military duty.

Dear Helen:

I will be 15 in two months. I belong to my parish Catholic Youth Group. Every Sunday night from eight to 10:30, this group has dances at the different parishes. They are chaperoned by two parents and the parish priest.

My father will not let me attend since I am in my freshman year. My friends and classmates attend, I cannot. Don't you think I should be allowed to go if my father brings me and picks me up at the door? —Left Out

Dear Left Out: Your father may have some other reason, which he has not revealed. But on the basis of what you tell me, I think you should be allowed to attend these parish parties. Since parish priests chaperone them, you might ask your priest to speak to your father. Perhaps he could arrange for your parents to be chaperons. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Teen-age Code." This set of guiding principles was developed to help achieve cooperation among parents and students for a safe and acceptable program of social activities for young people. It is based on parent and student surveys.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper.

Colleges Want Special Bond Issue

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Heads of state colleges today repeated their stand in favor of a proposed $52 million construction bond issue. "They said it was the 'only means' of meeting the building needs."

The view was set out again at a meeting of a legislative-sponsored committee appointed to explore the possibility of a building program from current revenues.

This program wouldn't be as ambitious as the bond issue proposal, which itself wouldn't meet count. Mrs. Geiger, 58, assistant cashier and a member of the board of Sheldon National Bank, had waived indictment by a grand jury which was scheduled to convene today.

She also waived reading of a 36-page information filed by U.S. Dist. Atty. F. E. Van Alstine.

The entire proceedings took only about 10 minutes. Mrs. Geiger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Iverson of Sheldon, was escorted the one block from the county courthouse to the federal building by U.S. Deputy Marshal Robert Bailey. Miss Dorothy O'Neill, a matron in the sheriff's office, and Chief of Police James O'Keefe.

Mrs. Geiger was nattily dressed in a green velvet gown, a brown fur-trimmed coat and a tan dress. She had a slight smile on her face during the walk to court.

It was the first time she has left her jail cell since her arrest Jan. 16 when federal bank examiner uncovered the $2,126,850 shortage at Sheldon National Bank.

The bank was closed by the embezzlement and taken over by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., which has been paying off its more than 2,000 depositors.

Difficulties Delay Missile Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Technical difficulties today forced postponement of the first attempt to launch a Minuteman intercontinental range missile, the weapon which could give the United States true push-button war capabilities.

The countdown had proceeded to all the reported needs.

Bulk of the proposed bonds would be used for the University of Arkansas and the state-supported colleges, but the Children's Colony and State Hospital also would share in the money.

The bonds, which must get popular approval at a special election, would be retired by a tax on soft drinks.

"Current tax revenues by themselves would not provide sufficient funds to remedy accumulated deficiencies as quickly as they must be corrected to provide the quantity or quality of services required," presidents of the educational institutions said in a printed report.

The report declared that unprecedented student enrollment would soon flood the state's schools.

It said the rate of increase was already above the national average.

Among other advantages of the bond proposal would be favorable interest rates, the report said.

"The people of Arkansas have repeatedly demonstrated their willingness to provide the facilities and services for public schools," it declared and added that "in the case of higher education only a state-wide bond issue can do the job."

The 10-man committee, composed of legislators and spokesmen for the institutions involved, held its second meeting. Its chairman is Rep. Bill Wells of Bradley County, who sponsored the study.

A public hearing on the bond proposal is scheduled for Tuesday night.

within four seconds of launching when missilmen called the shot off. A brief Air Force announcement said only that the shot was postponed because of technical trouble.

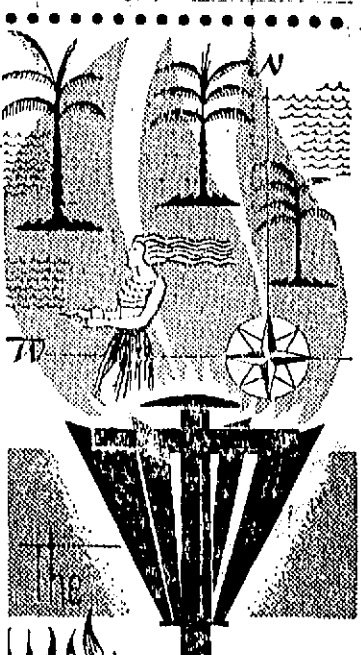

No new launching date was set. If the trouble is minor, another attempt to launch the 68-foot solid fuel rocket could be made in a day or two.

U. S. Now Has Obsolete A-Weapons

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has built up such an arsenal of new and improved nuclear weapons that it has started relegating obsolete models to retirement, the Atomic Energy Commission disclosed today.

The AEC said the nation's present nuclear weapons strength — both in numbers and variety — offers a "powerful deterrent against aggression."

But the AEC added this alert to its annual report to Congress: Further dramatic advances in weapons are possible through further nuclear testing, and therefore a threat to the free world is "implicit in a continued unpoliced moratorium on weapons testing."

The commission indicated its belief in the possibility that the Soviet Union may have been conducting underground sneak tests of weapons during the current moratorium, in effects in 1958.

"This commission is full in accord," said the report, "with the national policy of attaining cessation of nuclear weapons tests under a treaty that would establish American Legion:

Dear Commander Bradley:

Your post has set a real membership record for 1961. My most sincere congratulations to you and the hardworking Legionnaires of your post for having won the special certificate of Most Distinguished Service.

This recognition is awarded to all post re-enrolling by Nov. 11 an advance membership equaling or surpassing the 1960 membership.

Certainly with this fine start for 1961, your post will continue to go forward and enroll a maximum number of eligible veterans in the American Legion during the year.

Please accept my lasting thanks and appreciation for this splendid job.

Sincerely yours, William R. Burke, National Commander

PILES OF PEOPLE—Because of different birth and death rates, each nation in the world has its own age distribution profile. A stable population, such as in France, shows a straight up and down shape. Number of people in each age group is fairly equal. Mexico's population, on the other hand, is pyramid shaped. Nearly 16 per cent of its rapidly growing population is under four. This means that fewer adults must support more and more nonproducing citizens. Most underdeveloped nations have a pyramid pattern. Japan, however, with a declining birth rate, is moving toward stability. Its proportion of children under four (about 9 per cent) is now lower than that of the U.S. (11 per cent). WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO BABY JANE

THE STORY: Blanche Hudson is terrified at the devious ways her sister Jane is trying to torture her. Blanche was crippled in a car accident at the peak of her film career and now lives with her sister Jane, who was a child star in her own right before Blanche's career even began. Blanche realizes that Jane is jealous and hates her.

Chapter VII

Instinct, perhaps, had prompted her to call the doctor, or she may have recalled Mrs. Stitt's insistence that she consult the doctor about Jane. She had not stopped, though, to consider her motives. Dialing the number, she had pressed the receiver to her ear and breathlessly waited.

Had she not been so nearly in a state of shock, she would have known instantly that something was wrong. As it was, fully half a minute passed before she realized that the phone was dead.

At first she simply couldn't believe it; it was impossible that international controls adequate to assure compliance with its provisions.

"The commission, however, also feels a strong sense of responsibility to point out the risks to free world supremacy in nuclear weapons—and the resultant threat to the free world—that are implicit in a continued unpoliced moratorium on weapons testing."

The AEC gave its appraisal of America's present strength in nuclear arms.

"In the field of national defense," it said, "the commission can take satisfaction in having developed and manufactured a variety of nuclear weapons and warheads in ample quantities to meet the current requirements of the Department of Defense."

"Nuclear weapons have been made available for Strategic and Tactical Air Forces and for missile batteries. During 1960, the first submarine armed with nuclear missiles as well as powered with a nuclear reactor—the Polaris missile-carrying USS George Washington—undertook its first routine mission."

"The world knows," said the AEC, "we have an ample store of a variety of nuclear weapons—an armament that represents a powerful deterrent against aggression."

In other highlights of its 544-page report, the commission revealed:

1. Progress toward producing atomic power at costs competitive with power produced by conventional fuels, and "we are exploring new and radical concepts for power reactors with the objective of reducing further the cost of power from nuclear sources."

2. Advances in developing nuclear-powered space rockets and nuclear-powered aircraft.

3. Radioactive Strontium 90—the same material that's so greatly feared in the fallout from nuclear bombs tests—is being used to develop special electric power units and will be used by the Coast Guard in coastal light buoys and by the Navy and Weather Bureau for automatic weather stations.

4. Work has started to develop special instruments which could be carried by space satellites to detect nuclear explosions in outer space.

Tells Cotton Growers to Be Cautious

MEMPHIS (AP) — J. Craig Smith, president of the National Cotton Council, cautioned today against trying to prejudice the Kennedy administration plans to do in the matter of cotton legislation.

He spoke at the opening general session of the council's 23rd annual convention. Council committees have been at work since last Friday.

Smith, of Sylacauga, Ala., upheld the present cotton law, enacted in 1958. He said it "had the overwhelming support of the cotton industry."

"The law permits the secretary of agriculture great freedom in making decisions on price supports, adequate cotton carryovers from year to year, and acreage allotments."

Smith said the council's only concern was: "will the law be administered wisely and judiciously?" traditionally, the council has been for a minimum of government control in domestic cotton matters.

Smith touched also on the matter of imports, which he predicted will continue upward "even to the point of destroying our domestic market" unless the government takes action.

He said foreign competitors pay wages only a fraction of the legal minimum required of United States manufacturers. And, he emphasized, they have an advantage in raw cotton costs because of a United States export subsidy.

"We have to face the fact that between the minimum wage and the export subsidy, the government has placed the domestic market in extreme jeopardy," he said.

Nevertheless, said Smith, 1960 was a "splendid year for United States cotton." He expressed enthusiasm for the future.

Market Robbed of $10,000

MEMPHIS (AP)—A white man wearing a stocking mask held up a supermarket early today and escaped with an estimated $9,000 to $10,000 in cash.

His right hand thrust menacingly in a coat pocket, the robber her—the reason why Jane was doing this to her. She meant to kill her, to starve her to death!

She was not mistaken in this conjecture; she was positive she wasn't. She and Jane were embarked upon a weird and deadly kind of guessing game. Each tray brought in from now on would contain either some monstrous horror like the dead bird or a perfectly good meal. It was up to Blanche to try to guess which was which. Her eyes fixed upon the tray, Blanche reached out to the wheel of her chair and began again to move forward. At least she knew now the kind of madness she was up against. That helped.

Steeling herself she moved back again toward the desk. She had not covered more than half the distance, however, when she stopped. She sat for a moment staring straight ahead and then all at once she collapsed forward and buried her face in her hands. She couldn't do it. Suddenly she knew it. She simply hadn't the courage; Jane had won. Convulsively, helplessly she began to sob.

Passengers of Ship May Be Released

By MORRIS W. ROSENBERG

RECIFE, Brazil (AP)—A U. S. admiral agreed today to a meeting at daybreak Tuesday with the rebel captain of the seized liner, Santa Maria to arrange for the release of her 588 passengers.

Rear Adm. Allen E. Smith Jr., U. S. Navy commander in the Caribbean, said he received a message from Capt. Henrique Galvao proposing the meeting on the high seas. Smith quickly accepted.

The Portuguese luxury liner, whose 42 American and other passengers have been virtual hostages since Jan. 22, was reported lying about 60 miles due east of Recife.

Smith will sail on the destroyer Gearing for the rendezvous with the political foe of Portuguese Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar. The Gearing, one of four U. S. destroyers assigned to track the captive ship, now is heading for Recife.

Smith flew to Recife from Belem Sunday night to take charge of arrangements for the release of the passengers.

By MORRIS W. ROSENBERG

RECIFE, Brazil (AP) — An American admiral waited in this Brazilian port today for a U. S. destroyer to take him to the liner Santa Maria standing 65 miles offshore to arrange for release of her 588 captive passengers.

Rear Adm. Allen Smith Jr., U. S. commander in the Caribbean, flew here from Belem Sunday night to rendezvous with the Portuguese liner's rebel commander, Henrique Galvao. The U. S. destroyer Gearing, headed here from Africa, was expected to pick up the admiral today or Tuesday.

Smith said he planned a rendezvous about 35 miles off Recife but that he expected full instructions from Washington to be sent him aboard the Gearing. He said three other U. S. destroyers were en route here.

Asked if he expects to transfer all the passengers or only the 42 Americans aboard, Smith replied that this depended on the outcome of his talk with Galvao.

U. S. Navy planes spotted the Santa Maria at 7:30 p.m. Sunday cruising in apparently aimless patterns off Brazil's Atlantic coast.

Galvao was under instructions from Gen. Humberto Delgado, exiled leader of the Portuguese National Liberation movement, to keep the Santa Maria in international waters until after the inauguration of Brazilian President-elect Janio Quadros Tuesday.

Quadros gave assurance that if Galvao sails into a Brazilian port for safe discharge of the passengers, he will not seize the $16.6-million liner for return to her Portuguese owners. He also offered Galvao a haven.

The outgoing administration of President Juscelino Kubitschek decided Saturday to offer Galvao political asylum if he entered Brazilian waters, but to turn the Santa Maria back to her Portuguese owners, the Colonial Navigation Co.

The United States had proposed that Kubitschek permit the Santa Maria to enter a Brazilian port to discharge her passengers without threat of seizure.

U. S. officials in Brazil appeared relieved at the stand taken by Quadros, who succeeds Kubitschek at noon Tuesday in a ceremony at Brasilia, the new capital.

ordered four employees to lie down on the floor and the night manager to empty the safe of cash.

After the holdup he joined a companion waiting in an automobile and drove away.
